Program Assessment & Technical Support

Reddwall Solutions' experts provide a comprehensive assessment of your Occupational, Environmental Health & Safety (OEHS) programs, utilizing tailored protocols designed to align with global OEHS management standards. We utilize this assessment process at the Corporate, Business Unit/Division, or Facility level, providing an overall picture of the strengths and weaknesses relative to established OEHS management standards and best practices. The assessment can be tailored to meet the organization's needs from a basic

Why Reddwall Solutions?

The support services provided by Reddwall Solutions ensures that the organization has identified its environmental impacts, legal requirements, and more, and has adequate management plans and programs in place to ensure compliance and to protect the environment.

Our OEHS experts create validation systems designed to accurately identify the organization's workplace health hazards, and to confirm the effective management of worker exposure to hazardous chemicals.

Reddwall Solutions utilizes medical management and occupational health experts to confirm adequate controls are in place to provide monitoring and protect worker health.

We recognize that some organizations may require supplemental technical support to bring their OEHS programs to a level that conforms with legal and company

Our Process

The assessment is the first step in building a strong, sustainable OEHS program. Weaknesses identified in these evaluations are rated to assign relative risk while allowing for prioritization of corrective actions. Our experts also provide the support services necessary to assist an organization with developing detailed corrective action plans. Then, we support the execution of these plans.
